

A womban must manage her eggs.
During a limited segment of her life,
a womban produces a finite number of eggs:
0,1, or more each cycle, prior to the period.
Then, emergent next egg(s) are nurtured,
each egg maturing uncertainly
within the limited span of fertility,
a fading sequence, of indeterminable multiplicity
a series of potential beings / new person(s).

No person declares one's age,
based on the time of conception.

At the moment the umbilical cord is cut,
the person has arrived
and inherits every right of every fellow person.

For every egg that comes to personhood, others are denied.

In shelter,
womban nurtures the desired child to final emergence.
As a person -
womban is accorded the rights shared by all other persons.
The right to err, the rights and responsibility to decide
how to manage her body and what is in it.
The womban choses
which egg(s) fly,
and which egg(s) die -
each a potential person.

GOD endows (trusts) her.
Even if she may regret her decision on one egg,
she produces more eggs,
potentially: new life in new children she wants,
on her time, her way.

We must support her every freedom
and power to mother - or not mother.

No person shall intrude her person without her consent.

2009 >> 2019

/ john@earthPa.us